

AIRSHIPS OFF FOR RACE

Sixteen Great Balloons Leave Paris In Competition for the Gordon Bennett Cup.

MANY NATIONS ARE REPRESENTED

A Million Persons Witnessed the Start Off, the Wind Carrying the Aeronauts to the West From Paris.

PARIS, Sept. 30.—Sixteen balloons averaging over 2,000 cubic meters capacity each, and representing America, France, Germany, Great Britain, Spain, Belgium and Italy, sailed away from the Tuileries garden in the heart of Paris this afternoon, in the first competition for the Gordon Bennett cup for international aeronauts. The contest was primarily a long distance race. The date had been carefully selected when the prevailing winds are from the west, in the hope of giving the aeronauts an opportunity to break the record of Count de la Vaulx, made in 1900, when his balloon landed at Korostyeff, Russia, having covered a distance of 1,875 miles in thirty-five hours and forty minutes. But today the wind was light, hardly more than eight miles an hour, and from the east, thus making the shores of the Atlantic the limit of distance and robbing the occasion of its chance as a test of long distance aerial traveling.

On this account the race was a keen disappointment to the aeronauts, who had come from every corner of Europe. The rules of the contest however, provided that in case of unfavorable atmospheric conditions, the judges could, at their option, make the test one of endurance to remain in the air.

Nevertheless, as a spectacle, the event was a brilliant success. It is calculated that over 1,000,000 people saw the balloons as they sailed away. A quarter of a million had gathered inside the gardens, while the Place de la Concorde, the bridges over the Seine, the embankments of the river, the house tops and every point of vantage for miles were black with people. The terraces in the garden had been reserved for invited guests. They were occupied by prominent aeronauts of Europe, as well as many distinguished visitors from various countries, the foreign diplomats here and the French ministers of war and marine. The foreign military attaches are especially interested in the event, it being regarded as a great test of aeronautics and much more than a sporting event.

The start was preceded by the flight of hundreds of light balloons and the launching of 500 flaming pigeons.

Each contestant is an experienced aeronaut pilot, but, contrary to expectations, Santos Dumont, one of the two representatives of the Aero club of America, proved to be the only one to inaugurate a novelty. For the purpose of keeping aloft as long as possible, he had equipped his car with a six horse power vertical propeller with the object of lifting and lowering his balloon without discharging any of its previous ballast. The enthusiastic cheers of the multitude which greeted the ascent of Santos Dumont showed that he was a favorite, and quite as popular as his French rivals.

Major Hervey, the companion of Walter Wellman in the Wellman Chicago Record-Herald North Pole expedition, acted as assistant to Frank P. Lahm, lieutenant of the sixth U. S. infantry, the other American competitor. Each balloon carried a sealed recording barometer to work for twenty-four hours and a number of envelopes to be thrown out every two hours in order to mark the individual trail. Food for three days was also on board each car.

Not the slightest accident marred the start. Each enormous balloon in turn soared aloft, amid the plaudits of the crowd, and sailed gracefully away to the westward.

The full moon tonight was of great advantage to the pilots. In addition to the cup, which goes to the club of the winner and which is to be competed for annually, there is a cash prize of $2000 to the winner, $200 to the second and $133 to the third. There are in addition several other prizes including the Contessa Camille cup for the best voyage, the English team prize for meteorological observation, the gold medal endurance, the Gaudis distance cup and the Santos Dumont prize for the greatest distance in forty-eight hours.

More Russian Disorders.
VIAZNIKI, Vladimir Province, Russia, Sept. 30.—Agrarian disorders have broken out here and a number of estates have been pillaged.

Engineers Ordered East.
PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 30.—A special to the Oregonian from Vancouver barracks says that the Seventeenth and Eighteenth batteries and a company of engineers will leave for the East tomorrow. Final orders were received tonight.

SEEK TO SECURE LEGISLATIVE CHANGES

Philippine Provincial Government Meet At Manila In Convention.

MANILA, Sept. 30.—An assembly of provincial governors met here today to consider conditions in the province and to discuss legislation in congress to secure necessary improvements. The assembly will also consider the appointment of a committee from the provinces to co-operate with a committee from Manila for the purpose of securing an equitable tariff law. The election of assembly members and the formation of a permanent organization will also be considered.

FLOOD BELOW NEW ORLEANS

Reports Indicate Much Loss and Suffering In Mississippi Delta.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30.—Reports that probably a dozen lives were lost and that hundreds of square miles of land were under 18 inches to 4 feet of water during the hurricane in the Mississippi river delta were brought here today. The inundated tract lies about fifty miles below New Orleans and is mostly inhabited by fishermen and oyster men. Messengers that left these villages last night said that up to this time several persons were still missing. The loss to the United States marine hospital quarantine station on Ship Island is about $50,000. Of the eight sailing vessels wrecked on the island, it is reported, half of them can probably be repaired and refloated.

RUSSIANS CYNICAL ABOUT CUBAN SITUATION.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 30.—On account of the abiding interest in local affairs, the press of St. Petersburg gives little room to comment on the Cuban situation. The Novoye Vremya says it is unable to comprehend the scruples which led the United States to refrain from annexing the island in 1899. It reviews the present events in its customary anti-American style, and attributes the revolution to the machinations of President Roosevelt, and foresees annexation within a few years without objection from European powers.

TERMS FOR LAND SALES

Instructions Issued To Agrarian Commissioners.

Russian Political Campaign Is Becoming Animated and Rules Are Relaxed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 30.—The final step to set in motion the machinery of the government's plan for the distribution of land to the peasantry was taken today by the publication of voluminous regulations to the local agrarian commissioners, under which the sale of 11,000,000 dessiatins of land in the European Russia will begin immediately. These commissions, which are composed of delegates elected by the peasants, the land owners and the zemstvos, and of representatives of the government, act as intermediaries in the valuation of the land and the fixing of conditions of sale. They are charged with arrangements for emigration also. The average of eastern Russian and on the Siberian steppes surrendered by the Emperor will be sold on easy terms. The price is less than $2 an acre, and payments are spread over fifty years.

With the Constitutional Democratic congress only a week away and the formation of a new party on Count Fedor's platform, peace regeneration seems fully assured. The political campaign is becoming animated. The law upon the meetings of the Constitutional Democrats in St. Petersburg and elsewhere has been removed and these assemblies have been sanctioned, subject to the restrictions of ex-Premier Wit's temporary law. Encouraged by this concession, the Constitutional Democrats contemplate transferring their congress of Oct. 6th from Helmsburg to St. Petersburg, but they will adhere to the arrangements made to meet in the Finnish capital unless they are definitely assured of non-interference, as they are in wholesome fear of the regulations of reinforced security. It is expected that about 400 delegates will attend the congress.

The appeal for mitigation of the death sentence passed upon the assassin of General Kozlov, who was killed in Peterhof park last July, has been joined by the general's widow. After fruitless intervention with the commander of the St. Petersburg garrison, Madame Kozlov has telegraphed the Emperor, asking that no further blood be shed upon the tomb of her husband.

SECRETARY ROOT NOW IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Secretary Root arrived today on the Stylian. Root and his family drove immediately to their home on Sixteenth street where Adey, who has been acting secretary of state in the absence of Root and Bacon, called later.

Root declined tonight to give out any interview. Tomorrow he will resume his duties at the state department.

HONOLULU, Sept. 30.—The steamship Mongolia sailed for San Francisco today. She is reported to be leaving about a foot an hour in compartment three. Her pumps are being worked.

6000 MEN ON TO CUBA

Mobilization of the Forces Will Be at Newport News, New York and Tampa, Florida According to Plans.

FIRST LANDING WILL BE MADE SATURDAY

Operations In All Departments of the Military Establishment Are On War Basis and Transports Are Secured.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—American troops are now moving toward Cuba. Mobilization of the forces will be at Newport News, Va., for the most part, although a part of the expeditionary force to Cuba will be sent from New York and Tampa, Fla. Advances received at the departments of the military today indicate that all is quiet in Cuba, and that the insurgents intend to lay down their arms. The probability is that United States forces in the island will be landed only as a precautionary measure.

So far as officials are advised, no trouble of a serious kind is anticipated, but, in accordance with instructions from President Roosevelt, hurried preparations are being made for the sending of an expeditionary force of the army to Cuba.

The first American troops will be landed at Havana next Saturday. Meanwhile the marines and blue-jackets from the American fleet in Cuban waters will protect American interests and support Secretary Taft, the provisional governor of Cuba, in the preservation of order and the protection of life and property.

In official circles here American intervention was regarded as inevitable. How long it may continue it is impossible to foretell. The nature of the intervention and the preparations for it indicate a supervision of Cuban affairs for an indefinite period. Arrangements have been concluded not only for the expeditionary force to Cuba of about 5,000 men, but for a second force of equal numbers. No orders for the mobilization of the second force have been issued, but if the need are needed all arrangements have been completed for hurrying them to Cuba at the earliest possible moment. Whether more troops than are included in the first order will be sent to Cuba will depend upon the developments in the island in the next few days.

Operations on War Basis.
Operations in all departments of the military establishment of the government today were on a war basis. The acting secretaries of bureaus were at their desks and every office was humming with activity. Scores of clerks, who have not worked on Sundays since the Spanish-American war, were on duty.

At the war and navy departments and at the headquarters of the marine corps, General Ainsworth, military secretary, and General Bell, chief of staff of the army, worked throughout the day, concluding arrangements for the departure of the first expeditionary force to Cuba. Orders for the movement of troops were sent out last night, but today scores of orders were sent to officers who did not leave to join their regiment.

General Humphreys, quartermaster general, practically closed arrangements today for transports, which are to convey the expedition to Cuba. The ships will be ready for departure before the troops have been mobilized at Newport News. If it should be necessary to send a second expeditionary force to Cuba immediately following the first, the war department apprehends some difficulty on account of the quarantine laws of the various Southern states. A transport returning to any Southern state from Cuba will have to remain in quarantine five days before it can take on a cargo of troops for Cuba. The war department has taken up this matter with the authorities of the Southern states in the hope of arranging for a waiver of the five days' quarantine regulation.

Taft Has 5000 Men.
Secretary Taft, as the head of the President's special commission to Cuba, has available nearly 5000 marines and blue-jackets that could be landed on Cuban soil in a few hours in case of emergency. Other marines are en route to Cuba and will be available for emergency service in two or three days.

It will be a full week before the forces of the army can be landed in Cuba. The first detail of troops will leave New York on Wednesday aboard the army transport Sumner. They will arrive in Havana Saturday next. It probably will be several days later before other troops of the first expeditionary force of the army will be able to reach Cuba. Where they will be landed is yet undetermined. It is likely they will go to Havana, but their precise destination will not be determined until practically the hour of the sailing of the transports.

Harrying Troops Together.
No time is being lost in hurrying troops to the point of mobilization at Newport News, Va. The order of President Roosevelt, received at 1:55 o'clock last night at the war department, was imperative. The text was as follows: "Arrange for 6000 troops to start for Cuba as soon as possible."

GROWING LIST OF DEAD

Now Certain that at Least Seventy-nine Were Lost At Mobile In Great Storm.

CITY EMERGING FROM CONFUSION

Injury to Lumber Interests Will Amount to $10,000,000, Trees Having Been Weakened By Tapping.

MOBILE, Ala., via Meridian, Miss., Sept. 30.—The number of casualties in the great storm of last Wednesday is slowly increasing as men-ages arrive from places which have heretofore been inaccessible. The total last night of known dead was seventy-five. This number was brought up to a certainty of seventy-nine, and a possibility of 102 by the reports which reached Mobile during the night and early today. Four bodies not before counted have been found at today and it is estimated that twenty-three lives have been lost from the oyster fleet around Cedar Point. This last estimate is not known to be accurate and it is probably somewhat exaggerated for the reason that it includes among the dead every man aboard a fishing boat who has not been heard of since the storm. It is known some boats on which these men were have been driven ashore and it is entirely possible that some of the crews managed to reach shore. It does not seem likely at present that the death toll will amount in this vicinity to more than 325.

Mobile itself is rapidly emerging from the confusion caused by the storm. Large gangs of men were kept working all of Sunday in clearing the streets of debris. Three of the street car lines have commenced to run for the first time since Wednesday. The confusion at the docks is rapidly being repaired and business will be at normal as soon as the railroads are able to run trains.

As yet the Louisville and Nashville is still disabled and is the only road which is not able to maintain a schedule and the time when that line will be open for regular traffic is conjectured. It will not be until the first part of a fortnight before it will be running trains between Mobile and New Orleans. The Southern and the Mobile and Ohio are running trains before the storm.

The situation along the coast to the west of this city is now fairly well known. At Scranton, Miss., one church the Old Fellows' hall and several buildings were blown down. At Pascagoula beach not a residence is left standing, the river front at that point being completely torn up, and the lighthouse there has been destroyed. Shiping at this point has been badly damaged. The revenue cutter Winona, for which much fear was entertained, is now thought to be safe.

The crew of the cutter, rescued the keeper of the Pascagoula lighthouse and his family during the storm. The keeper of the Horn Island lighthouse, just outside of Scranton, lost his life. The captain of a tug which came near the house at the commencement of the storm urged him to leave, but he refused to abandon his post and in a short time he was drowned. The entire end of the island on which the lighthouse is situated is said to have been carried away by the waves.

At Biloxi the damage has been of a minor character to buildings. Every bath house in the place has gone and the beautiful driveway along the coast at this point has been destroyed. Boats which have from time immemorial found refuge in the storms that blew by fleeing into the bay at Biloxi were granted no such immunity on Wednesday and the waves ran high and many of the boats that sought refuge there were sunk and all of them were badly damaged. At Pass Christian no lives were lost and the damage was slight. The wrecking of a few houses comprised the damage at Gulfport and no lives were lost there.

Five out of eight vessels at Ship Island at the time of the storm were beached and two will be total wrecks. Several vessels the names of which are unknown, are ashore at Horn Island, and the small islands marking the passage between Dauphin Island and the main land have been destroyed. The beach lights on this part of the coast are not greatly damaged. The schooner Alice (captain C. Mobile) is known to have been lost with her crew of six men.

This loss has been pursued by an evil fate, and besides having various mishaps from time to time, was wrecked in the great storm of 1903, when several people were lost from her. The known detail at Dauphin Island are Captain John Worley, of the schooner Triton, Captain Robert Peters, of the schooner Louisa B., and Mitchell P. sell, master of the same boat.

Four bodies have been picked up in the water near Dauphin Island, and have been buried there. Two were evidently sailors and two were boys. The people on Dauphin Island suffered real hardship during the storm and for twenty-four hours were in great danger. The soldiers of Fort Gaines made a dangerous trip of two miles to the residences on the island offering to give every body shelter within the fort, but the offer was in all cases refused, the people preferring to remain in their houses.

Official Telegrams.
Official telegrams announcing Secretary Taft's assumption of the governorship were communicated to King Victor Emmanuel at the castle at Racconigi. Pope Pius was most interested in the situation and ordered that Monsignor Averani, the apostolic delegate, pending further instructions, be notified of the situation.

Notifying Foreign Governments.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Notice of the American intervention in Cuba has not yet been officially sent to the foreign powers. It is expected that the president, who will return from Oyster Bay tomorrow, and Secretary Root, who returned to Washington today, will consider tomorrow whatever action is to be taken in that direction.

HOTEL MAN KILLED BY EX-EMPLOYEE

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 30.—C. B. Bollen, proprietor of the Commercial hotel, and well known throughout the city, was shot and killed at 10 o'clock tonight by John Barthel, a waiter, whom Bollen had discharged during the day. Barthel is a refugee from San Francisco. He is in jail.

FORECAST OF THE WEEK

Working Out of Taft's Plan for Restoration of Order In Cuba Will Hold Public Attention.

MASSACHUSETTS CAMPAIGN BEGINS

President Roosevelt's Executive Department To Be Transferred Again from Oyster Bay to Washington.

Cuba's new provisional government and Governor Taft's plan for the restoration of peace and order in the island will hold public attention during the week. With the advent of the American troops, who have been directed to proceed to Cuba at the earliest possible moment, it is expected that the work will be hurried along with the greatest expedition. In the meantime, the official proclamation issued by Governor Taft will have reached nearly every point on the island and the whole Cuban people will have been informed that American intervention has come.

Politics will also absorb much interest during the coming week. In New York the campaign for governor and other state officers will begin in earnest. Charles E. Hughes will be officially notified of his selection as the head of the Republican ticket, and William H. Hearst, the candidate of the Democratic party and of the Independence League will make several speeches throughout the state. Hughes will address three meetings in New York City this week. On Friday night he will speak at Carnegie hall and on Saturday night he will address two meetings in Brooklyn.

Secretary of the Treasury Shaw will be among the speakers at the Carnegie hall meeting. On Monday the Democratic state committee will meet in New York for permanent organization. It is expected that a new state chairman will be elected at that time.

Both the Democrats and Republicans of Massachusetts will hold conventions to name their respective state tickets during the week. Boston has been selected as the meeting place by both parties, the Democrats coming together on Tuesday and the Republicans on Thursday.

Monday will witness the transfer of the executive department of the United States government from Oyster Bay, the so-called summer camp, to Washington. President Roosevelt, with his family and the members of his executive staff, who have been at Oyster Bay with the President during the summer, will start for Washington about 11 o'clock this (Monday) afternoon. On Thursday the President will go to Harrisburg to deliver the oration of the day on the occasion of the dedication of the new Pennsylvania state capital. He will also deliver an address at York, Pa., on the return trip from Harrisburg to Washington.

Thirty-one governments will be represented at the international conference of wireless telegraphy, opening at Berlin, Oct. 2nd, which is to take up the work of international regulation of wireless telegraphy left over from the Berlin conference of 1902. The twenty-third conference of the International Law association will be held in Berlin, Oct. 1st to 5th inclusive.

On Saturday, eighteen automobiles, among them the speediest racing cars in the world, will make a 297-mile dash over a measured course on Long Island for the trophy known as the Vanderbilt cup. America, France and Italy will be represented.

Another interesting sporting event of the week will be the rifle competition between teams representing the Queen's Own Westminster volunteers and the Seventh regiment, national guard, New York, which will take place at Creedon, N. Y., on Tuesday.

At Newport News, Va., on Saturday, a new unit will be added to the United States navy, when the armored cruiser North Carolina takes her initial plunge from the yards of her builders.

The commissioners of insurance of the various states will hold their annual convention in Washington on Tuesday, tripping nations in the rebel camps tomorrow.

The provisional government has no expectation that even a considerable number of the revolutionists will surrender their arms. Most of the weapons are the personal property of the men carrying them. The first agent of the disarmament commission left tonight for Puerto Principe. Others will start tomorrow for Santa Clara province on a special train, which will pick up the arms turned in at the various places on the way. As Santa Clara province contains the largest number of rebels in arms, the work there will be especially arduous. General Guerra himself will assist in superintending the work of the return of the forces in Pinar del Rio province, having over to remain in Havana in general charge of the work of disarmament. When this is completed he will take command of all the United States troops in Cuba.

HILL SECURES A BAY SITE

Obtains Option On Island On Alameda Shore

Harriman's Great Rival Is To Build Southward From Boise City.

From Yesterday's Call.

James J. Hill has stolen a march on E. H. Harriman and is getting ready to build into California. Not only has the Great Northern magnate completed a survey of a proposed new line from Boise City to San Francisco, but he has secured a valuable point on the bay shore for railroad terminals and is figuring on the cost of the construction work with the avowed purpose of having San Francisco Bay on his own railroad map inside of the next six years.

It became known yesterday that Hill, through representatives sent here several months before the earthquake, tied up the Bay Farm Island property in Alameda county, which will be filled in and extended for a terminal, and he is also engaged in planning for a ferry system across the bay.

The latter project was to have taken definite shape early in April, but was abandoned for a time, owing to the earthquake. It was not until Hill's plans for the new road had matured to a point where he could quietly laugh at Harriman and carefully figure on the cost of construction that the president of the Southern Pacific learned of the threatened invasion from the north and he immediately got busy in a series of attempts to thwart the Hill plans.

Harriman's first move was the ordering of his engineers to begin work at once on the Humboldt cut-off and to cross in every possible way the route which was suspected of being proposed to use in getting into San Francisco. At this time, however, Harriman little suspected that Hill had acquired the Bay Farm property, and the news conveyed to him but a few weeks ago caused great consternation in the Harriman ranks. Since then Harriman agents have been scattered throughout the State to watch the movements of Hill's men, whom Harriman has learned have been traveling all over the northern country, making all kinds of surveys with a view of finally perfecting a feasible route for a new road.

The Harriman officials in this city knew of the presence of Harriman's men, but they reported that the men were in the employ of the Western Pacific. It appears that Hill, from the time he started in search of a route into California, has caused rumors to be circulated that the men were working for the Gould people and thus misled Harriman. But Harriman is learning rapidly of his rival's work in California and is casting about for means to stop him.

Big Survey Is Complete.

Hill is coming to San Francisco by way of Pitt river, which affords him the only means of entering the State and crossing the Sierra Nevada on an easy grade. His survey party from Boise City has proposed a new route into the southerly part of Oregon to Lakeview, from which point his surveyors have completed a map of the country southward to the Alameda tide-water. Two years have been consumed in making the survey and perfecting plans for terminals here, but long before this Hill had entered upon his project to build to San Francisco. To achieve his purposes without betraying them to Harriman, he sent T. B. Walker, the Minneapolis lumber magnate, westward, as a representative of the syndicate organized ostensibly for the purpose of buying up and holding timber land in California. Walker, in about five years' time has purchased in his own name about 800,000 acres of land, through which the Pitt river will extend. Strangely the bulk of this land was purchased from the Central Pacific land department. In other words, Hill purchased a guaranteed tonnage for his new road from his hated rival and without the latter ever suspecting the motive behind the deal.

Clever Ruse Is Adopted.

Frequently, with a view of throwing Harriman off a scent, T. B. Walker engaged surveyors to work in various sections of northern California, while the Hill men stole a march in some other direction. This was done only recently, when Hill wanted to get his men into the Pitt river district. Walker, to distract attention, sent out a party of surveyors on a trip through the country north of Oroville, allowing the story to be circulated that he was figuring on building a road into the Shingletown district. Before Walker's men were called in, the Hill party had done its surveying and moved up toward the Oregon line.

Meanwhile, Harvey Lindley, acting for Hill, had secured an option on the Klamath tract of timber land that stretches across the northern boundary of California into southern Oregon, and later, when Hill decided that the time had come to take over the property, through which extends the Klamath River railroad, he sent his son-in-law, Samuel Hill, to this city to confer with Lindley at the Palace Hotel. They were together several days. Hill returned to the north and Lindley went back to Klamath. Then came the news that Lindley had sold the Klamath property to Rudolph Weyerhaeuser, the great lumber king.

CAPITAL, LABOR AND PRODUCTION UNDER PRES. DIAZ

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 29.—In his sensible talk to the striking Central machinists, General Diaz related, more or less, the firm but common-sense statements made by Minister Sierra of the department of public instruction before the meeting of the labor league a few days since, and these sentiments are based on principles which have actuated President Diaz for thirty years in dealing with the relations of capital and labor in this country.

He made clear to the men that the country needs capital, and that the government will protect it, also that the country needs the active effort of every industrial man, and he, too, will be protected and guaranteed in his rights; while this government would prevent anything of a socialistic type that tended to conflict between the employer and the employed, it was also prepared to throw about the "man who wants to work the mantle of his most ample protection, even if in consequence to every labor league or labor union," as Minister Sierra had superbly said.

President Diaz gave the laboring men at the audience clearly to understand that agitators should not be allowed to take advantage of the transient disorder of the Mexican working-men to foment trouble, and that the authorities would not allow such interference. If they made such attempt it would be at their peril, for even as in the past severe measures have at times been taken by the government in critical times, it would not just as energetically in the case of any labor emergency. The president talked to the men in the same straightforward and sensible manner that President Roosevelt has addressed similar bodies of men.

General Diaz being wholly disinterested and being controlled by a patriotism of crystalline purity, was the one man in all the country who could best stand apart from all factional quarrels or differences, and yield alike to employer and employee the most of impartial consideration. The splendid common sense of President Diaz, one of the finest points in the mental make-up of that veteran statesman, thus enabled him to bring about once more a successful and satisfactory solution to a crisis as big with peril as had faced Mexico during the past twenty-five years.

Whittaker's Almanac, a noted British statistical compilation, has included in this year's edition a gross error with respect to the foreign and internal debt of Mexico. It gives the foreign debt of this country as $140,424,941 sterling, and the internal debt as $144,735,525 sterling. The total, according to Whittaker, of the debt of Mexico, foreign and internal, approximates the astounding sum of $285,000,000 sterling. But the correct figures are given in the Statesman's Year Book (also British) for the current year. The figures given for 1905 are corrected as follows: Mexico's foreign debt, $30,945,432 sterling, and the internal debt, $143,094,340 sterling. The total debt, therefore, according to the Year Book, which is correctly informed, approximates $440,000,000 sterling, or $220,000,000 gold.

If fiction and fable are to be believed, it was Sinbad the Sailor who first discovered coconuts; the tale tells of the monkeys who defended themselves from the attacks of the sailors by throwing coconuts at them. There is some such story still extant in the tales of geography told to children. At any rate, coconuts were discovered. People who are short on botanical information and long on imagination tell us that chocolate is made from the meat inside, and the cocoa powder which comes in cans is derived from the shell. The real fruit of the cacao, the most little brown beans used in a luscious pot full of white meat, are often a surprise to Americans.

Mexico is a good coconut country, and the tree grows in great numbers in the Mexican tropics. It is particularly cultivated along the coast. The fruit itself is one of the most beautiful of the palm tree and fringed leaves make it a very attractive feature of every landscape of which it forms a part. Oftentimes its shapely tips tossing on the water line of the horizon are the first hint to the weary-seeker of some palm island or some widening stretch of the edges of streams or on the seacoast of Mexico, where the nuts have floated on the water until they took root in the soil about the banks. The soil in the tropical portion of this country is so rich and deep that things can almost be seen to grow in a night.

The coconut tree grows luxuriantly, as do all the palm family, in their native soil, and they begin to bear on the fifth year. By the seventh year they are in full bearing, and continue to fruit for about fifty years. This fruit bearing is with tropical lavishness, and the Mexican Indians count on sometimes one nut a tree for 200 nuts a year, from each tree. Fully 200 nuts a year have been counted on one healthy tree. In this country the coconuts command a price of three cents each in native currency, and the demand cannot be supplied. The tree requires no care or culture whatever. The fruit can be handled like kindling wood, so that it is easy to ship. They can be put down in New York at a profit of 3 cents gold, each.

The cultivation of this nut fruit in Mexico has not been pushed to any perceptible extent although the conditions abound in this country for its production. J. J. Fitzgerald, of this city, who is authority in the matter, figures that the trees can be planted in Mexico 150 to the acre, with a minimum production of 150 nuts to the tree, for the year, the fruit selling at 3 cents silver.

SARCOPHAGUS OF LEO XII.

The remains of Pope Leo XII are about to be removed from their temporary resting place in St. Peter's to the marble sarcophagus placed over the left of the choir, and in keeping with that of Pope Innocent III, which is over the corresponding door on the opposite side of the choir. The sarcophagus of Leo XII is magnificent, and is decorated with delicate tracery in gold. Leo XII will be the seventeenth of the popes to be entombed in the Lateran. Innocent III having been the contemporary of the Crusader king, Richard Coeur de Lion of England. In the baptistry is a font of green basalt, in which Emperor Constantine, who labored with his own hands to build the cathedral, was baptized, and in which, it is said, the last of the popes, Pius IX, bathed the night before his death. With the night before his death, he was in the main altar and died in a hostile manner, the skull of St. Peter and St. Paul, and the early Christians. In the most secret of the church is filled with relics most sacred in the eyes of all Catholics.

It may be remembered that when the remains of Pius IX were moved from their temporary resting place in St. Peter's to his tomb in the basilica of St. Lorenzo, outside the walls of Rome, the customary three years having elapsed after his death, the ceremony was made the occasion of a hostile demonstration against the papacy, and above all, against the dead pope with mud and stones and narrowly escaping being thrown into the Tiber. The most intense indignation was aroused by this, having neglected to adopt the necessary precautions for the control of the mob, and the affair has always been cited since to illustrate the alleged powerlessness or unwillingness of the government to afford proper protection to the holy father, were he to leave the Vatican.

The regime now in control of the affairs of Italy is very different from that of 1881, and may be relied upon to maintain the most perfect kind of order.

When, a fortnight ago, the Vatican authorities intimated to the Italian government that the translation of Leo XII's remains from St. Peter's to the Lateran was about to take place, and suggested that in order to avoid possible trouble or disturbance the removal should be made under the cover of night, King Victor Emmanuel caused Pius IX to be informed that all arrangements would be made by his government, not only for the protection of the hearse and the procession, but likewise for granting sovereign honors to the remains, if they were conveyed by day from one basilica to the other.

Owing to the amicable relations which now prevail between the papacy and the Italian crown, this offer has been accepted, and Leo XII will leave St. Peter's for the first time since he entered the Vatican as a "popeable" cardinal twenty-eight years ago, and will be borne in stately procession through the streets of Rome, lined with troops rendering sovereign honors to his final resting place in St. John Lateran.—The Monitor.

OLD AGE.

It is too late. Ah! nothing is too late. Till the tired heart shall cease to palpitate. Cato learned Greek at eighty; Sophocles wrote his grand oedipus, and Simonides bore off the prize of verse from his contemporaries. When each had numbered more than four score years; And Theophrastus at four score and ten had begun "His Characters of Men." Chaucer, at Woodstock, with his nightingales, At sixty wrote the "Canterbury Tales." Goethe, at Weimar, (toiling to the last, Completed "Faust" when eighty years were past.

What then! Shall we sit idly down and say The night hath come; it is no longer day? The night hath not yet come; we are not quite Cut off from labor by the failing light. Something remains for us to do or dare. Even the oldest tree some fruit may bear. For age is opportunity no less Than youth itself, though in another dress; And as the evening twilight fades away The sky is filled with stars, invisible by day.

—Henry W. Longfellow.

FIGHT IN MID RIVER

Walcott Is Still Welter Weight Champion as Mill Was Draw.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 30.—Joe Walcott and Billy Rhodes of this city fought a twenty-round draw this afternoon on a sand island in the Missouri river, twelve miles below Kansas City. The fighters and spectators went to the island by steamer and the ring was pitched in the sand 2000 men standing around the ropes to see the contest. The island being uninhabited and unattended to, the sheriff concerned himself about the fight.

Walcott was the aggressor from the start, Rhodes contenting himself with cleverly blocking the blows, who was unable to land on Rhodes at any time. In the seventeenth round Walcott injured his hand and abated his aggressiveness, but Rhodes seemed willing to continue on the defensive and accept a draw. While Walcott did most of the work, and had a shade the better of the contest, both men were in good condition at the end of the twenty rounds.

The fight was announced to be for the world's welterweight championship, which Walcott still retains.

MURDERER'S BODY GIVEN TO COLLEGE

Cooper Medical Students Will Make Study of Weber's Brain.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—Adolph Weber's body was brought to San Francisco, shortly before noon yesterday and taken to the dissecting room of the Cooper Medical Institute at Sacramento and Webster streets. The utmost secrecy was observed, and while some of the faculty deny that the body was received at the college, there is no doubt that it is there. What will be the final disposition of the remains is uncertain. There is a rumor to the effect that after the brain has been removed the remains will be cremated, and the ashes sent to an aunt who lives in Auburn, the scene of the atrocious murder. Still another theory is that the body was willed to the medical college by Weber, and still another theory is that he had a friend who was attending Cooper Medical Institute and that the murderer gave his body to this friend.

Shortly before Weber was taken from the cell to the death chamber he said: "I have no statement to make regarding the disposition of my body."

It was shortly before noon yesterday when Dan Donovan, manager of the H. J. Gallagher undertaking establishment at 1314 Webster street, received word from the coroner at Sacramento to meet the body on the arrival of the 11:20 o'clock train from Sacramento and convey the body to the Cooper Medical Institute and deliver it to the attendants at the college. This Undertaker Donovan says he did, but he denies that he knows what disposition is to be made of the body.

Donovan was reticent about giving details, and said his connection with the case ended when he conveyed the corpse from the ferry to the medical college. When informed that the members of the college faculty denied that the body was there, Donovan said: "I have nothing more to add to the statement I first made. I received instructions to meet the body at the depot and take it to the college. The instructions I received were from the coroner of Sacramento county. I am sorry now that I had anything to do with the case. When I arrived at the college with the corpse the attendants there took charge of it and took it down in the basement. What was done with it I do not know."

RAILROADS DEMAND MEAT BE INSPECTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Beginning October 1st, the railroads will refuse to accept meat in interstate commerce which does not bear the proper stamp of inspection from the department of agriculture. Realizing at the last minute that their business may be seriously hindered by the provisions of the new meat inspection law many small packers have appealed to Secretary Wilson and his assistants within the last few days to inspect their plants and grant them the much coveted inspection stamp. That a large number of these packers will be disappointed is certain.

CHESTER H. ROWELL, Editor and Manager

EDITORS MUST PAY CASH.

The Interstate Commerce commission has sent out a circular explaining its recent ruling that railroads are not to accept anything but money in payment for tickets. The commission holds that to charge one man money, and to accept services or goods from another man, is discrimination in rates. This of course shuts off, so far as interstate traffic is concerned, the practice of exchanging transportation for newspaper advertising, and some New York press association has protested against it on this ground.

We think, rather, the newspapers should not only have welcomed the ruling, but should insist that it be applied also, by the laws or regulations of the various states, to transportation within those states. This would abolish the whole system, and put the business relations of the railroads and the newspapers on the same basis which each of them enforces in all its other business relations. Nobody but a railroad can get advertising in a newspaper for anything but money and no money but a newspaper man can get tickets on a railroad for anything but money. It would be much better for the newspapers if they got money for their railroad advertising also (some of them do, now, by refusing to accept anything else) and it would be better for the railroads if they got money from newspaper men, as they do from other passengers. This simply as a matter of business.

As a matter of public policy, the case is still stronger. Railroads ought not to be permitted to give and newspapers ought not to be tempted to accept, any sort of subsidy. The passes which every editor of an important paper used to be offered were a subsidy pure and simple. These have gradually given way in most cases to a transportation exchange which looks on its face like a straight business transaction. But it is not so treated by the railroads. The general rule is that the newspaper gets all the transportation it asks for and the railroad gets all the advertising it wants, and at the end of the year the whole state is wiped out, regardless of how much balance there may be either way. No accurate accounts are kept, and the railroad does not care whether it gets the better, or the worse of the bargain. The transportation it gives out, in exchange for advertising, is hedged about with limitations which make it a nuisance, or at least much less valuable than the tickets sold for cash, and the railroad expects to receive in return inferior advertising accommodations, at higher rates than those charged cash customers. It is an out-at-the-ends transaction totally different from anything tolerated in any other department of railroad administration.

What would be thought of a freight traffic manager who should make a proposition like this to a lumber company: "You ship such lumber as you please over our line, and we will carry it with such promptness as we find convenient, when we happen to have the cars handy. We will charge you whatever price happens to occur to the shipping clerk. Whenever we need any lumber for ties, we will simply take it from your piles, and you may charge us, whenever you please, for the amount you think we have probably taken. Neither of us will pay the other's bills, and at the end of the year all accounts will be wiped out, regardless of what is on them." Such a traffic manager would not merely be discharged; he would be looked up for a lunatic. And yet exactly this arrangement is made by all the railroads with any newspaper that will accept it. Such insane business methods are to be comprehended only by recognizing that the railroads do not regard the matter as a business transaction. If it is business, it is crazy business, and unprofitable, besides. If it is not business, newspapers ought to keep out of it. Railroads will pay money for such advertising as they need. They do it now, to the newspapers which refuse to accept anything else.

LONDONESE

The London papers have been poking fun again at what they call the "American accent" of visitors from the United States. Let them. It may serve to distract their attention from the horrible Cockney spoken on their own streets, which no American can understand, and no Scotchman, and no Sheffield man, either, unless he has learned it in London. That Cockney is beginning to penetrate higher in the scale of society than the average Londoner realizes. Because the educated Londoner manages to keep his h's fairly straight, he fondly deludes himself that he is proof against the Cockney infection. Not so. Compare the pronunciation of a fine old English gentleman with that of his own grandson, and you will soon see the invasion. The drawl, the clipping of the consonants, the transformation of simple vowels into diphthongs or even triphthongs, and the general inarticulateness of speech which characterize the modern young Londoner have no place in the English of the better classes of the older generation in London, or in the English of educated men from other parts of England. The scholars of Oxford can speak clear and intelligible English, though of course some of their students, like university students all over the world, make a virtue of their inability to speak their own language correctly.

We are all of us prone to think that our particular way of pronouncing English is the only sensible and unaffected way. It is a provincial delusion, for which there is probably no cure but travel and education. And the Londoner can not be cured even by these, since his education makes a virtue of provincialism, and when he travels he refuses to associate with any but his own kind. As a matter of fact, the general standard of spoken English is more uniform, and better, in the United States of America than anywhere else in the English-speaking world. Even the horribly strident American voice is showing signs of gradual amelioration. Two generations of general public school education are beginning to show their effect, and the third generation, now growing up, contains more persons who speak with fair grammatical correctness than any preceding generation, in America or England. Dialectic peculiarities of pronunciation were never so far developed in America as in England, and they affected fewer persons. The man from Boston, from Chicago and from New Orleans show their differences, but these differences are as nothing compared to the differences from similar extremes in the British Isles. And the English language owes what little is left of its original sonority almost wholly to American influence. No English poet will ever again write such melodious verse as Chaucer, or even Spenser. The language of their poetry is forever dead. But even Tennyson can not be read musically in Londonese.

Isn't it curious that when certain laborites, alleging themselves to be the labor union party, wanted Langdon called down they sent their request, not to the official committee of the Independence League, but to its absentee boss in New York? It was a ripping off of shams and tearing out the heart of things somewhat unusual in this day of political bluff. Nearly always we go through the form of dealing with the legal fact and trust to getting at the fact indirectly.

Hanford and Dinuba have both shut down on gambling and nickel-in-the-slot machines and put the saloons under higher license and stricter regulations. Porterville has already taken the same step. One by one they fall into line. The days of the "wide-open" town in California are past forever.

THE DIAMOND

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—The local ability to find Hopkins was four runs and the game for Los Angeles today. Oakland made but one hit, off Burns, and failed to score. MURDERER'S BODY GIVEN TO COLLEGE

Cooper Medical Students Will Make Study of Weber's Brain.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—Adolph Weber's body was brought to San Francisco shortly before noon yesterday and taken to the dissecting room of the Cooper Medical Institute at Sacramento and Webster streets. The utmost secrecy was observed, and while some of the faculty deny that the body was received at the college, there is no doubt that it is there. What will be the final disposition of the remains is uncertain. There is a rumor to the effect that after the brain has been removed the remains will be cremated and the ashes sent to an aunt who lives in Auburn, the scene of the atrocious murder. Still another theory is that the body was willed to the medical college by Weber, and still another theory is that he had a friend who was attending Cooper Medical Institute and that the murderer gave his body to this friend.

Shortly before noon yesterday when Don Donovan, manager of the J. J. Gallagher undertaking establishment at 1314 Webster street, received word from the coroner at Sacramento to meet the body on the arrival of the 11:20 o'clock train from Sacramento and convey the body to the Cooper Medical Institute and deliver it to the attendants at the college. This Undertaker Donovan says he did, but he denies that he knew what disposition it is to be made of the body.

Donovan was reticent about giving details, and said his connection with the case ended when he conveyed the corpse from the ferry to the medical college. When informed that the members of the college faculty denied that the body was there, Donovan said: "I have nothing more to add to the statement I first made. I received instructions to meet the body at the depot and take it to the college." The instructions I received were from the coroner of Sacramento county. I am sorry now that I had anything to do with the case. When I arrived at the college with the corpse the attendants there took charge of it and took it down in the basement. What was done with it I do not know."

Not the slightest information concerning the body or its disposition could be learned at the college. Attendants when questioned, denied that the body was there, or that it had been brought there and afterward taken away.

Dr. Henry W. Gibbons, dean of the medical faculty, said: "I have no knowledge that the body of Weber was brought to the Cooper Medical Institute. It might have been taken there without my knowledge."

WILL RAISINS

GO TO 4 1-2c?

Some Growers Holding For Figure.

Big Growers Sell For 4c—How the Game Was Played This Year.

Will raisins go to 4 1/2 cents? Some growers who have not yet sold their crops believe they will and are holding for that figure. Among the few big blocks of raisins that are still unsold is the Kearney vineyard crop. Manager Friselle of the estate is reported to be holding for 4 1/2, and some of the packers have expressed the opinion that he is likely to get it. The latter part of last week some big crops were sold at 4 cents. The Cannery's association got the Butler crop at 4. Many were after this block of raisins, but the Cannery captured the prize. The crop amounted to 150 tons and hence brought $12,000. The association also bought Willy Griffin's crop at Fowler for 4 cents.

Since the opening of the season there has been a constant upward tendency in the market. J. M. Heron of the Cannery says the upward tendency of the Eastern market is due to the fact that the opening prices were low and the jobbers have seen a chance to make money on a rising market. Accordingly they are pushing raisins with the natural result of a strong market. The great mistake growers' associations always made, he says, was starting the market too high and discouraging the trade.

The price was started low this year as a deliberate policy upon the part of some of the packers, who now, according to reports, regret their bearing. The Cannery put the price at 3 1/2 at the opening of the season. The Gardner club of packers offered only 3 1/2. The result was that the Cannery bought a lot of goods, and the other packers sold low in the East in other packs to beat down the price on an attempt to pinch the Cannery. They sold short and the only thing that saved them was the hold-over raisins that they got from the old association. Then when they wanted to buy new raisins, the Cannery, who had loaded up pretty well at 3 1/2, began boosting the market, with much talk and an occasional buy, so that the other packers had to offer 3 1/2, 3 3/4 and 4. The Cannery has bought a few crops at 4 cents, including those of Butler and Griffin. The natural condition of competition this year has produced the kind of Eastern situation that the trade likes. The Cannery, although new at the raisin game, appear to have outgeneraled the older competitors at every turn.

The Fresno Home got out the last few weeks and bought gold at high figures. "They say we're bulling," remarked Lee Gray, "but it's not so. The Eastern market is strong and the situation justifies the prices we are paying." Gray bought the W. F. Chandler crop at 4 cents Saturday, also the Elliott and the Strong crop.

Raisins at 4 cents, do you know what it means? W. F. Chandler gives an idea of what it means. "I had rather a poor crop on 150 acres," he remarked. "At 4 cents, that crop will bring me $10,000, of which $8,000 will be net. Why, we people out here don't realize what our land is worth."

INQUEST AND LAST RITES

Coroner's Jury Will Find Verdict On Brewer Tragedy

Funeral Will Take Place This Morning and Will Doubtless Be Attended By Many.

The inquest over the remains of the late Charles Brewer and wife, who met their ends in the domestic tragedy of Saturday, will take place in the morgue of Stephens & Dean this morning at 8:30, when all the available evidence in the case will be heard. The principal witness in the investigation will be little Bertie Brewer, the 9-year-old son of the ill-fated couple. He was the only one in the house at the time of the dual killing, being in bed with his mother when she was killed, and was in hiding behind a door when his father sought him to take his life before putting an end to himself.

After the inquest the funeral of the pair will be held from the undertaker's chapel. Rev. A. P. Brown will probably officiate. The hour fixed for the service is 1 o'clock, but this may be changed at the last moment to suit the convenience of out-of-town friends who desire to attend. A large number of the dead man and his wife are in two caskets in the ante room of the little chapel. Since the killing hundreds have visited the place to view the remains. Yesterday afternoon and evening a particularly large number visited the place, the majority being women. Some of the visitors wept as they gazed at the placid features of the young wife who was slain in her sleep by her husband in his last frenzy of despair and loss.

The most earnest of the glances upon her face being sympathetic and loving, while those bestowed upon her slayer were principally morbidly curious.
No definite arrangements have yet been made for the disposition of the little boy. At present he is with E. A. Williams' family. Mr. Williams has a boy of his own of the same age, and the two lads are good companions. If Attorney Williams does not decide upon adopting the Brewer boy he will probably be placed in the Protestant orphanage, where he spent a few weeks during the troubled days of his parents. The boy appears to regard his great loss with apathetic unconcern and he has no demonstration of grief or feeling. He wonders why his father killed his mother, and remembers that both were kind and loving to him, but beyond that he does not appear to worry.

NO WONDER THE TAX RATE

IS $2 ON EVERY $100

Justice Smith's Fees On Criminal Cases, Mostly Hoboes. Have Amounted to $15,101—To Be Investigated By Taxpayers League.

The Taxpayers' Protective league has signaled out the Justice courts as one of the most prolific sources of county extravagance, which with extravagance in county affairs generally has found the county tax rate up this year to the enormous figure of $2 on every $100, the highest county rate in the state, and a rate higher than San Francisco's, notwithstanding the enormous loss of property by earthquake and fire.

An examination of the bills by justices of this district alone more than justifies the vigorous protest of the taxpayers, who are soon to take organized action against this form of treasury looting. The figures for the last 44 months show that Justice G. W. Smith has drawn out of the county treasury for criminal cases about the appalling sum of $15,101, or an average monthly salary of $343.50. This is for criminal cases alone, the fees for civil cases not being reckoned in this. The largest part of this is made up of the holding money. The hobo is pulled out of prison by the constables, taken to Smith's court and floated out of town. The constables get their fee, Smith gets his fee and the county foots the bill.

The Police court fees for the same period have amounted to $14,795, which, added to Smith's fees, brings the total cost of petty criminal cases, practically within the city, up to the astounding total of $29,896.
There is this difference between the two courts, however: All the arrests made by the police are brought to the Police court and there is no protesting merely for the sake of fees. The hobo industry is not cultivated there. Judge Briggs turns his lines into the city and the city pays his salary, so that at the present time the office is self-sustaining. But with Smith the fees are inflated, and the office is a heavy drain upon the treasury. Hoboes are never fined, they are floated, and they are rounded up for the purpose of arrest.

Just what action the Taxpayers' league will take against this abuse has not been determined, but something radical will be done. On two occasions, when attempts were made to remedy

TRAER RESPONSIBLE DEFEAT BLUE RIBBONS

Mike's New Busher Leads Farmers' Team to Victory Over Valley Champions.

Two strange things happened in the local sporting world yesterday. The Fresno team won a game—but you've already heard about that. The other unprecedented thing was—whisper it softly—the defeat of the Blue Ribbons at the hands of the Farmersville team. Young Traeger, Mike Fisher's busher, was on the slab for the Farmersville team and he made the Blue Ribbons look like monkeys. Most of the time the Blue Ribbons were fanning the air trying to locate some of Traeger's curves and the rest of the time they were knocking some of his hot ones right into the mits of an infidel.

The work of Traeger in the box so completely unnerved the Blue Ribbons that they fumbled the ball all over the lot whenever they got a chance at it, and the errors for the game totaled ten. Traeger was found for only one safe hit.

Tufts, the Blue Ribbon twirler, held the home team down to eight hits, but the errors of the Blue Ribbons netted the Farmersville team fourteen runs. The Blue Ribbons sneaked four men across the rubber. The fun happened after the third inning. Before that the score was 3 to 0 in favor of the Blue Ribbons.

Traeger struck out twelve men and Tufts struck out seven.

The Blue Ribbons are game though and are going to play the Farmersville team for a purse of $50 on the Visalia diamond next Sunday.

WILL EXPLAIN ABOUT THE DROP TOO MUCH

Nine Week-end Celebrators Will Attend Police Court This Morning.

The lower court session this morning will have nine imbibers who did things too thoroughly on Saturday night and yesterday.
Carl Lillstrand is a stranger to the police court, but he is serving a term for each time he has been in the last. If not last afternoon, was getting very drunk and noisy on the west side when Policeman Coyle arrested him.
Hugh McDonald, also known in police circles by reason of his being the victim of a stab from his own companion, John Griffin, on nomination day, besides his connection with one or two drunken escapades, was taken to jail by Officer Enos, who found him almost helpless on the streets.
H. Rei used bad language on the Santa Fe depot and explained the matter apologetically to Policeman Kennedy by saying that he had a drop too much.

Of the others, there are two John Does, taken by Officer Machen and Deputy Sheriff Rainer; L. P. Henry, found on the Southern Pacific depot, drunk and incapable, by Policeman Enos; Elijah Grouch, arrested in the court house park by Deputy Mat Burton; J. J. Howard and John Henderson, arrested by Officer Fair.

HOTTEST DAY IN YEAR AT LOS ANGELES

Thermometer Reached 112 Degrees In the Shade On the Streets.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—This was the hottest day of the year, and the hottest September day in Los Angeles for twenty-one years. At 12:30 p. m. Weather Observer Walliser recorded 105 degrees in the shade, 117 degrees in the sun at the same elevation, and 112 degrees (shade) in the streets. At 8 a. m. the thermometer registered 86 degrees, and at 8 p. m. 82. The hot wave struck this city about 8 o'clock last night, though all day Friday the weather was uncommonly warm for the season. A spatter of rain last night, accompanied by lightning and distant thunder, was reported tonight with refreshing effect. September 21, 1905, the thermometer reached 108 degrees in Los Angeles.

STATE FEDERATION OF REAL ESTATE MEN

Will Be Largest and Most Representative Gathering Ever Held In State

According to an Oakland dispatch, the meeting of the State Real Estate federation in this city, will be the largest and most representative gathering of real estate men ever held in the state. The dispatch is as follows:
OAKLAND, Sept. 29.—There will be a large attendance of real estate men of this city at the coming convention of the California State Realty Association, which will be held in Fresno, commencing October 11th. Preparations are being made by the Fresno Real Estate association for the accommodation of the delegates, and it is expected that the meeting will be the largest and most representative gathering of real estate men ever held in this state.

It is proposed at this convention to devise rules for the regulation of all transactions in realty in this state, that will result in uniformity of action among the realty men, and do away with many existing evils. The following delegates have been selected by President Layman of the Oakland Real Estate association to represent this city at the convention: John T. Bell of Phoenix & Bell, A. J. Snyder of A. J. Snyder & Co., A. B. Broad of Broad & Hancock, George W. Austin of George W. Austin & Co., E. P. Vanderebeck of E. P. Vanderebeck company, James S. Naismith of Naismith & Naismith, S. M. Marks of the Realty Syndicate, Harry L. Holcomb of Holcomb Realty company, Charles L. Taylor of Taylor Brothers, E. J. Stewart of Stewart & Brown, F. F. Porter of F. F. Porter & Co., and F. J. Woodward of Realty, Bonds and Finance company.

THIS CHINK DEFENDS HIMSELF WITH REVOLVER

Hoodlums Who Try to Break Into Hi Lung's Place Met Muscular of His Gun.

Hoodlums attempted to break into Hi Lung's place on the end of Tulare street last night, presumably for the purpose of robbing him, but were driven off with a few shots fired over their heads by the Chink, who was determined to defend himself at all costs.

Officer Bradley heard the reports from a distance and hurried to the spot where he found that one or more had evidently tried to force an entrance from a side door, and also through one of the windows.
The matter was reported to police headquarters and the police are looking out for suspicious characters loafing about Chinatown.

SHOULD DISCHARGE OBLIGATIONS

German-Americans Would Bring Pressure To Bear On Insurance Companies of Fatherland.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—The German-American league of California, at the league's annual convention, held today, adopted a resolution calling upon the German government and the local government of German cities, to make every effort to compel those of the German insurance companies who have repudiated their liability in the San Francisco disaster to discharge their just obligations.

The companies named in the resolution as repudiating all liabilities are the Rhein-Mosel, Trans-Atlantic, North German of Hamburg and the Austrian Phoenix. Copies of this resolution have been sent to the emperor of Germany, to the chambers of commerce and the mayor of every city in Germany, and to the national German-American federation, as well as to the editors of all German papers with the request that they publish it.

NEU-AVILA COMPANY

Has Great Disincorporation Sale.

John A. Neu Takes Over Entire Interest of the Other Shareholders—Unloading Stock to Make Transfer Easier.

John A. Neu having arranged to take over the holdings of the other stockholders and run the business in his own name, the Neu-Avila Company, Inc., gives notice to the public that they will offer their huge and splendidly selected stock of "high grade" pianos and organs at prices that will astonish buyers and make a rapid clearance of their stock, their object being to convert into ready cash as much as possible and thus simplify the making of the transfer, as the stock is large and Mr. Neu desires it greatly reduced in size when he acquires it.

No home is complete without a piano, and no piano is a pleasure to a home unless it is good. The well-known standing of the Neu-Avila company's pianos for excellence of manufacture and material, beauty of tone and lasting qualities, makes the sale most interesting as a piano event in the history of Fresno. This is no aggregation of cheap trash gathered for a "special sale," but an honest endeavor to reduce clean, high grade instruments at prices as low as hitherto dreamt of, in order to effect a change of partnership—opportunities like this come seldom, and thoughtful, saving people will rush to take advantage of this one. As an example of what our patrons may expect, just note the following:
$500 Fischer piano, in beautiful walnut case, $300.
$475 Fischer piano, handsome mahogany case, $310.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—The Sikh policemen in the British concession have gone on strike. They demand an increase of pay, and also express a desire to terminate their contracts, for the reason that patriots in America are writing to them glowing accounts of the wages received there.

Volunteers were called out, but the striking policemen have shown no disposition toward violence.
It is probable that the matter will be settled amicably.

FRESNO WINS LAST GAME OF SERIES FROM SEATTLE

Siwashes' Remarkable Fielding Kept Them from Losing First Game—McGregor and Fitzgerald Both Pitch Good Ball—Seals Open Here Tomorrow.

Standing of the Clubs.	W.	L.	Pct.
Portland	92	59	.607
Seattle	77	67	.534
Los Angeles	78	74	.512
San Francisco	75	79	.486
Oakland	69	84	.446
Fresno	65	100	.396

The loss of two games to the Giants yesterday and the winning of yesterday's game by the Seals has put the Seals in the fourth place in the race for the pennant. Many changes may occur in the percentage column before the end of the season. The question now is "what will Fresno do?"

Fresno won a baseball game. Straight goods. No fooling. And Fresno might have won two yesterday had it not been for some of the most remarkable fielding stunts ever seen on a baseball diamond. The fans who attended yesterday at Recreation park got their money's worth, for both games were as good as baseball as is ever played.

That man VanBuren seemed to be a magnet. All the balls that went into the outfield seemed to fall right into his mitt. But he worked for them. Near the diamond or far away, there was VanBuren waiting for the bide, and if it didn't come down in a convenient place he just reached over and got it.

Had it not been for this remarkable support, which was not confined to one man by any means, the tale would have been different and Oscar Jones would not have had a shut-out game to his credit. McGregor was on the sled for Fresno and pitched a good game. Fitzgerald was on the mound during the second game and also handed out a good article of ball.

The First Game.
McGregor led the Siwashes down to six hits yesterday and the Basin Eaters got five hits off Oscar Jones.

Two hits, an error by Truck Egan and a base on balls in the fourth inning were responsible for two of Seattle's runs. VanBuren made a safe hit to left field and Blankenship followed with a ball to Truck. The big fellow fumbled it. Householder's walk next filled the base. Then brought VanBuren and Blankenship both across the rubber with a safe hit to left and Strick followed with a long fly into Hoag's hands in the right garden. Householder tried to steal home, but the busher was quick with his return and Dashwood tugged him out at the plate. Mott knocked a grounder to Cartwright and ended the scoring for that inning.

There was a popular play in the sixth. Blankenship landed safe with a hit to center and Householder followed with a shot to Casey which put Blankenship out at second. Croll hit the ball between first and second and Householder happened to be in the way. Casey glommed the sphere and tagged Householder, shooting the ball to first before Croll had time to arrive there. Derrick called both men out and there was a big howl from the Indians, who gathered around the umpire, explaining that the ball had hit Householder and was therefore dead. Derrick took this view of the matter and changed his decision, calling Fresno back onto the diamond. Strick hit to Delmas, who shot the ball to Cartwright. Cartwright missed it and Julie landed safe. Mott walked and the bases were full. McKune knocked an easy one to Delmas, and a quick shot to Casey put Mott at second and the danger was over.

Two hits after three men were gone gave Seattle her other run in the seventh inning. VanBuren made a hit to center and stole second. Blankenship scored him with a hit in the same place and made third on an overthrow by Dashwood. McGregor struck out Householder, ending the scoring for the game.

Fresno made no score in the first game, but was able to find the ball for what might have been safe hits had it not been for the good work of Seattle's pitchers. VanBuren made seven outchances, five of which were nothing short of marvelous. Two of them were throwed patches, and to get one of them Russ Hall's big feller had to bend back nearly double. Truck Egan knocked a long two-bagger over the center field fence in the second inning, but was too anxious to get home and was tagged out in a dogging match between second and third.

The Second Game.
The second game was short, lasting only five innings, and taking but thirty-five minutes for play. Fitzgerald did good work for Fresno, striking out three men and allowing only two hits. He was given perfect support in both the in and out fields.

Fresno made her two runs in the third inning. Fitzgerald went out on a long fly to right field and Casey waited until Garvin had tried four times to leave the plate and failed. Doyle took the first ball over and chucked it out to center field, this time where VanBuren couldn't get his mitt on it. McLaughlin knocked the first ball away back in the right field and it rolled under the fence into the sunflower patch.

VanBuren gave an exhibition of a stoopie chase in landing the fence, but the ball was not returned to the diamond until both Casey and Doyle had crossed the rubber. McLaughlin died at third base, neither McKune nor Delmas being able to locate anything good.

SAYS HE ABDUCTED HER 16-YEAR-OLD SISTER

Woman Swears Out Warrant Against Juan Gutierrez, for Decoying Away 16-Year-Old Girl.

Ensured with the sister of a woman to whom he had paid attention, Juan Gutierrez, a young Mexican of respectable family decoyed the girl from her home and was just on the point of taking her off to some other town when the elder sister swooped out a warrant charging him with abduction. The woman's name is Alejandra Caldeon, while the girl is called Ignacia. The elder sister claims that the girl is only 16, but the girl herself, with testimony, declares that she is past 18 years old. If the latter statement is established to the satisfaction of Judge Heizer, there is no case to work upon but the abduction charge will stand if it is true that Ignacia is younger.

There are, of course, two stories in the case. The woman claims that the accused man went into her house and forcibly took the girl away. She also hinted that she was either engaged to be married to the man, or was actually wedded to him, but on this point she is contradictory. The girl herself has nothing to say about the matter except that she loves Gutierrez. The prisoner says the girl was willing to go with him and went of her own accord. He also claims that he was going to marry her on the first opportunity. The girl appears to be at least 18 years old.

Attorney Winne tried to arrange for bail, but the friends of the prisoner live out of town and could not be reached in time to liberate the captive last night.

DEATH TAKES OLD PIONEER

Benjamin Dore, Well Known Forty-niner Passes Away.

Was Formerly In Legislature and Served Two Terms—Was Prominent Republican.

The thinning ranks of the sturdy old pioneers of 1849 sustained a heavy loss yesterday in the death of Benjamin Dore, who passed away at his home in the West Park colony after a brief illness from the infirmities of age.

The deceased, who was in his 82nd year, was a native of Athens, Maine, and arrived in San Francisco fifty-seven years ago. Many years ago he determined to settle in Fresno county and follow agricultural pursuits. He acquired land in the West Park colony nearly twenty-five years ago and made his home in that section. His wife, Jane Amanda Dore, predeceased him in 1889. To the union were born three children, who survive the departed parents. They are Alice A. Dore, Harry E. Dore and Frank E. Dore. Harry E. Dore was formerly foreman of the job department of the Republic, Frank Dore is at present of the city police department. John S. Dore, a well-known rancher of this county, is a brother of the deceased.

Mr. Dore was strongly identified with the upbuilding of this county and state in many ways. A public spirited man, he was prominent in politics in the early days, being elected to the state legislature from San Francisco in 1861, and serving two terms with signal credit to his supporters. He was a staunch political work he evinced a keen interest in the happenings of the times and was always well posted in the situation of the political field.

The deceased was a Mason in the 32nd degree. He was an honored member of Exalted Order and California chapter, F. & A. M., of San Francisco. A man of kindly nature and domestic tastes, Mr. Dore surrounded himself with the comforts of a substantial home where he was always pleased to dispense hospitality to his many friends and receive his acquaintances. Three years ago he visited his old mine home town with his daughter Alice. During his long residence in Fresno he made a host of warm friends many of whom passed away to the great beyond before him. His death will be learned with profound regret as the removal of an old-timer who earned lasting esteem in the community.

The remains will be shipped from the undertaking parlor of Stephens & Dean

on Saturday night to the place of burial.

On Saturday night she paid a visit to her acquaintance, Mrs. Charaya, who lives in the house where the death took place. On that night Mrs. Ramon seemed as usual, and was even in better spirits than usual. She went home, but returned on the following morning with something wrapped up under her arm. After spending the morning chatting with the inmates of the home, she went out to the shed and fixed herself up an improvised bed, with the remark that she wanted to lie down for an hour or two out of the way of the family. Towards the evening Mrs. Charaya looked in and saw that the woman had been drinking, and had a big wicker bottle of wine in her hands. Shortly after this it was noticed that the woman was acting queerly and one of the household went out to hunt up a doctor. Before a doctor arrived the woman was dead, having fallen into a drunken stupor and thence passing into death.

The coroner's office was notified and Dr. Cowan at once went to the spot to investigate. The remains were removed to the morgue of Stephens & Dean, where autopsy was performed.

The dead woman has two sons in Selma. She was about 50 years of age, and was a native of this state, but of Mexican parentage. The remains will be held, pending instructions from her two sons.

The autopsy was performed by Dr. John A. Gillespie and showed that the immediate cause of death was fatty degeneration of the heart contributed by intemperate use of alcohol. The inquest will be held this morning. The funeral arrangements will be deferred, pending word from the sons.

COLEMAN ENJOY MUSIC AT AFTERNOON CONCERT

Large Gathering—Attend Courthouse Program of the Band

Yesterday afternoon's concert in the court house park was attended by an immense gathering of persons who listened attentively to an excellent musical program. The weather was balmy and mild enough under the shady grove in the park and those who sat on the benches, or lolled about on the grass had an afternoon's entertainment which would be welcomed every day of the year.

Of the musical numbers of the program, the descriptive piece called "The Haunted House" was perhaps the most striking. It was followed by special request and brought down a shower of applause. J. S. Barton, too, won unstinted praise for his cornet solo, "The Three Star Polka." Mendelssohn's wedding march, always an old favorite, came in as a most acceptable adjunct to the entertainment, while the overture from Rossini's "William Tell" won recognition of appreciation.

The program was played according to the following:

Part I.
March, "Dead of the Pen" (Morel)
Waltz, "Eulalia" (Tobani)
Overture, "William Tell" (Rossini)
Cornet solo, "Three Star Polka" (Bagley)
By J. S. Barton.

De-risive "Haunted House" by request (Lafferty)
Part II.
Wedding March (Mendelssohn)
Medley, "Bills of Remick's Hitts" (Lampy)
Sacred, "Calvary" (Rodney)
Trolleyline, "Sims" in the Moon (Thiere)
Finis, "Chicken Chowler" (Giblin)
"Star Spangled Banner"

COFFEE vs. Brains

A London physician commenting on the increase of "coffee drunkards" in Great Britain, says:

"Coffee is a cerebral (brain) stimulant ranking with alcohol." He condemns the after-dinner black coffee, (vaunted by the coffee defenders as "harmless"), saying it is responsible for many cases of insomnia.

DIES ALONE IN WOODSHED

Mrs. M. Ramon Passes Away In Neighbor's Outhouse.

With Domijohn of Wine Beside Her, She Succumbs To Hard Use of Same.

Stretched on a few old sacks among a pile of kindling wood, the dead body of Mrs. Mary Ramon was discovered in a shed at the rear of No. 1523 Tenth street last night. Beside the corpse was a half-gallon demijohn of wine, while on the clothing of the woman and about her was the smell of liquor, showing that she had drunk heavily before her death.

The deceased, who was a widow, lived in a little hedge behind the school house on E street. She was well known in the neighborhood and earned a little money occasionally by doing odd household jobs. During the past few days she complained of feeling low-spirited, and once went to a drug store to get some kind of medicine to cheer her up. She had been addicted to the excessive use of strong drink for many years, but only took it when the spells of melancholia came on.

On Saturday night she paid a visit to her acquaintance, Mrs. Charaya, who lives in the house where the death took place. On that night Mrs. Ramon seemed as usual, and was even in better spirits than usual. She went home, but returned on the following morning with something wrapped up under her arm. sition and personal popularity account for Barnum's political success. Barnum is a man with a personality that pleases people. He is a genial, whole-souled, buoyant man, and optimist of the first water, and a man that office has not spoiled. He has a faculty of getting close to people.

But Barnum's popularity does not entirely lay in his personality. He has proved himself worthy of his office and has discharged his duties with intelligence and foresight. He was first elected in 1894, receiving a magnificent vote of nearly 700 majority. In the fusion landslide of eight years ago he had a close call, winning by only ninety-six but his popularity saved him from the wreck; the popularity of his opponent, A. M. Hays, was a very strong man.

The first thing Mr. Barnum did on entering office twelve years ago was to reduce the cost and increase the standard of public service. Although this office has twice as much work to do now as it had then, it does not cost the county as much. Then the Board of Supervisors used to allow extra help to foot up the tax bills, now all that work is done in the office without increased cost to the taxpayers.

Perhaps there is no better known man in Fresno than Mr. Barnum; even the children know him, and any extended biographical sketch would be unnecessary. He first came to the county 10 years ago and engaged in ranching near Round Mountain. From there he went to Tulare, then moved to Lemoore a year later to engage in the hotel business. Here his misfortunes began. Fire destroyed his building and everything he possessed, but he did not give up and opened a hotel shortly afterwards at Reedley. In 1889, from an accident while out hunting he lost his arm. In 1890 he was appointed United States census marshal and up to his election as auditor, filled several other minor offices.

Mr. Barnum is a man of the highest integrity. As a public servant he has been a faithful official. He has been called the watchdog of the treasury, and it is needless to say that he will watch it another four years.

FRESNO WINS LAST GAME OF SERIES FROM SEATTLE

Siwash's Remarkable Fielding Kept Them from Losing First Game—McGregor and Fitzgerald Both Pitch Good Ball—Seals Open Here Tomorrow.

Standing of the Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.

The loss of two games to the Giants yesterday and the winning of yesterday's game by the Seals has put the Seals in the fourth place in the race for the pennant. Many changes may occur in the percent. age column before the end of the season. The question now is "what will Fresno do?"

Fresno won a baseball game. Straight goods. No fooling. And Fresno might have won two yesterday had it not been for some of the most remarkable fielding stunts ever seen on a baseball diamond. The fans who attended yesterday at Recreation park got their money's worth, for both games were as good as a play.

That man VanBuren seemed to be a juggler. All the balls that went anywhere in the outfield seemed to fall right into his mitt. But he worked for them. Now the diamond or far away, there was VanBuren waiting for the ball, and if it didn't come down in a convenient place he just reached over and got it.

Had it not been for this remarkable support, which was not confined to one man by any means, the tale would have been different and Oscar Jones would not have had a shut-out game to his credit. McGregor was on the slab for Fresno and pitched a good game. Fitzgerald was on the mound during the second game and also handed out a good article of ball.

The First Game.
McGregor held the Siwash down to six hits yesterday and the Basin Eaters got five hits off Oscar Jones. Two hits, an error by Truck Egan and a base on balls in the fourth inning were responsible for two of Seattle's runs. VanBuren made a safe hit to left field and Blankenship followed with a ball to Truck. The big fellow fumbled it and Blankenship's walk next filled the tags. Croll brought VanBuren and Blankenship both across the rubber with a safe hit to left and Strick followed with a long fly into Hoag's hands in the right garden. Hoag's hands tried to steal home, but the baserunner was quick with his return and Dashwood tagged him out at the plate. Mott knocked a grounder to Cartwright and ended the scoring for that inning.

There was a peculiar play in the sixth. Blankenship had landed safe with a hit to center and Hoag followed with a slow ball to Casey which put Blankenship out at second. Croll hit the ball between first and second and Hoag's hands happened to be in the way. Casey glommed the sphere and tagged Hoag, shooting the ball to first before Croll had time to arrive there.

Derrick called both men out and there was a big howl from the Indians, who gathered around the umpire, explaining that the ball had hit Hoag's hands and was therefore dead. Derrick took this view of the matter and changed his decision, calling Fresno back onto the diamond. Strick hit to Delmas, who shot the ball to Cartwright. Cartie missed it and Julie landed safe. Mott walked and the bases were full. McKune knocked an easy one to Delmas, and a quick shot to Casey put out Mott at second and the danger was over.

Two hits after two men were gone gave Seattle her other run in the seventh inning. VanBuren made a hit to center and stole second. Blankenship scored him with a hit in the same place and made third on an overthrow by Dashwood. McGregor struck out Hoag, ending the scoring for the game.

Fresno made no score in the first game, but was able to find the ball for what might have been safe hits had it not been for the good work of Seattle's fielders. VanBuren made seven catches, five of which were nothing short of marvellous. Two of them were unlanded catches, and to get one of them Russ Hall's big fielder had to bend back nearly double. Truck Egan knocked a long two-bagger over the center field fence in the second inning, but was too anxious to get home and was tagged out in a dodging match between second and third.

The Second Game.
The second game was short, lasting only five innings and taking but thirty-five minutes for play. Fitzgerald did good work for Fresno, striking out three men and allowing only two hits. He was given perfect support in both the in and out fields.

Fresno made her two runs in the third inning. Fitzgerald went out on a long fly to right field and Casey waited until Garvin had tried four times to head the plate and failed. Doyle took the first ball over and shouted it out to center field, this time where VanBuren couldn't get his mitt on it. McLaughlin knocked the first ball way back in the right field and it rolled under the fence into the sunflower patch. VanBuren gave an exhibition of a steeple chase in hurdling the fence, but the ball was not returned to the diamond until both Casey and Doyle had crossed the rubber. McLaughlin died at third base, neither "Back nor Delmas being able to locate anything good.

Diamond Flash.
Fresno did some pretty fielding herself yesterday. McLaughlin got under what looked like a sure hit in the fifth inning and Doyle made a beautiful running catch in the eighth of the first game. A pretty double play was completed in the last inning of the first game. Jones was on first base and Kane knocked a hot one to Truck. It looked for a minute as though it would be a hit, but Truck made a pretty pick up and the ball went to Casey at second and to Cartwright at first, putting out both runners.

In the second inning of the first game McGregor pitched with ball at Croll. Croll nearly fell over in his effort to get nearly off the way, but the ball hit his bat and it counted against him as a foul.

Terry McKune is not very tall, but he made a valiant leap for one of Delmas' hot liners in the second inning of the last game. The little shortstop thought that the ball would bounce right into his hands and was on the lookout, but it bounced high into the air and he jumped after it. Terry was too short, however, for the ball landed way out in the left field.

Last week's series was, on the whole, the highest class baseball played on the Fresno diamond and, in fact, in the Pacific Coast league this season. Seattle undoubtedly has the best combination of batters, pitchers and fielders in the league, and if the Indians keep up the pace that they set this week at Fresno they will not be a long way from the port of Portland in the race for the pennant.

The weather has been ideal for baseball. Just warm enough not to be uncomfortable and to put plenty of ginger into the players and that is what makes games interesting and worth watching. That, too, by the way, is what wins games.

Seals This Week.
Tomorrow the local fans will have a chance of seeing the Seals in action. The San Francisco lunch in charge of Park Wilson will begin a series of six games here Tuesday. The Seals were to have come here the week of the earthquake, but things were so mixed up at that time that they couldn't be located.

The Seals have been playing good ball. Until day before yesterday they were second in the race for the pennant, but their losing series with Portland, Seattle and San Francisco have put them third. The outcome of this week will have an important bearing on their standing in the percentage column. For a long time the Seals were at the head of the column, and it was thought that nothing could pull them down.

On account of the shortening of the afternoons, the games will be called at 3 o'clock instead of 3:30.

CROWDS ENJOY MUSIC
AT AFTERNOON CONCERT

Large Gathering Attend Courthouse Program of the Band Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon's concert in the court house park was attended by an immense gathering of persons who listened attentively to an excellent musical program. The weather was balmy and mild enough under the shady grove in the park and those who sat on the benches or lolled about on the grass had an afternoon's entertainment which would be welcomed every day of the year.

Of the musical numbers of the program, the descriptive piece called "The Hummed House" was perhaps the most striking. It was produced by special request and brought down a shower of applause. L. S. Barton, too, won unqualified praise for his cornet solo, "The Three Star Polka." Mendelssohn's wedding march, always an old favorite, came in as a most acceptable adjunct to the entertainment, while the overture from Rossini's "William Tell" won recognition of appreciation.

The program was played according to the following:
Part I.
March, "Band of the Pen" (March)
Waltz, "Eulalia" (Tolani)
Overture, "William Tell" (Rossini)
Cornet solo, "Three Star Polka" (Hagley)
By L. S. Barton.
Descriptive "Hummed House" by request (Lafferty)
Part II.
Wedding March (Mendelssohn)
Medley, "Bits of Romie's Hits" (Lafferty)
Saxophone, "Calvary" (Rodney)
Trombone, "Stanzas in the Moon" (Lafferty)
Tuba, "Chickadee" (Lafferty)
Day time, "Chicken Chowder" (Giblin)
"Star Spangled Banner"

SAYS HE ABDUCTED HER 16-YEAR-OLD SISTER

Woman Swears Out Warrant Against Juan Gutierrez, for Decoying Away 16-Year-Old Girl.

Ensured with the sister of a woman to whom he had paid attention, Juan Gutierrez, a young Mexican of respectable family, decoyed the girl from her home and was just on the point of taking her off to some other town when the elder sister swore out a warrant charging him with abduction. The woman's name is Alejandra Calderon, while the girl is called Ignacia. The elder sister claims that the girl is only 16, but the girl herself, with Gutierrez, declares that she is just 18 years old. If the latter statement is established to the satisfaction of Judge Higgins, there is no case to work upon but the abduction charge will stand if it is true that Ignacia is younger.

There are, of course, two stories in the case. The woman claims that the abducted girl went into her home and forcibly took the girl away. She also hinted that she was either engaged to be married to the man, or was actually wedded to him. But on this point she is contradictory. The girl herself has nothing to say about the matter except that she loves Gutierrez. The prisoner says the girl was willing to go with him and went of her own accord. He also claims that he was going to marry her on the first opportunity. The girl appears to be at least 18 years old.

Attorney Winge tried to arrange for bail, but the friends of the prisoner live out of town and could not be reached in time to liberate the captive last night.

DEATH TAKES OLD PIONEER

Benjamin Dore, Well Known Forty-niner Passes Away.

Was Formerly In Legislature and Served Two Terms—Was Prominent Republican.

The thinning ranks of the sturdy old pioneers of 1849 sustained a heavy loss yesterday in the death of Benjamin Dore, who passed away at his home in the West Park colony after a brief illness from the infirmities of age.

The deceased, who was in his 62nd year, was a native of Athens, Maine, and arrived in San Francisco fifty-seven years ago. Many years ago he determined to settle in Fresno county and follow agricultural pursuits. He acquired land in the West Park colony nearly twenty-five years ago and made his home in that section. His wife, Jane Amanda Dore, predeceased him in 1891. To the union were born three children, who survive the departed parents. They are Alec A. Dore, Harry E. Dore and Frank E. Dore. Harry E. Dore was formerly foreman of the job department of the Republic. Frank Dore is at present of the city police department. John S. Dore, a well-known rancher of this county, is a brother of the deceased.

Mr. Dore was strongly identified with the upbuilding of this county and state in many ways. A public spirited man, he was prominent in politics in the early days, being elected to the state legislature from San Francisco in 1861, and serving two terms with signal credit to his supporters. He was a staunch Republican. After giving up active political work he evinced a keen interest in the happenings of the times and was always well posted in the situation of the political field.

The deceased was a Mason in the 32nd degree. He was an honored member of Excelsior lodge and California chapter, F. & A. M. of San Francisco. A man of kindly nature and domestic tastes, Mr. Dore surrounded himself with the comforts of a substantial home wherein he was always pleased to dispense hospitality to his many friends and receive his acquaintances. Three years ago he visited his old Maine home town with his daughter, Alice. During his long residence in Fresno he made a host of warm friends many of whom passed away to the great beyond before him. His death will be learned with profound regret as the removal of an old-timer who earned lasting esteem in the community.

The remains will be shipped from the undertaking parlor of Stephens & Dean.

DIES ALONE IN WOODSHED

Mrs. M. Ramon Passes Away In Neighbor's Outhouse.

With Demijohn of Wine Beside Her, She Succumbs To Hard Use of Same.

Stretched on a few old sacks among a pile of kindling wood, the dead body of Mrs. Mary Ramon was discovered in a shed at the rear of No. 1523 Tuolumne street last night. Beside the corpse was a half-gallon demijohn of wine, while on the clothing of the woman and about her was the smell of liquor, showing that she had drunk heavily before her death.

The deceased, who was a widow, lived in a little house behind the school house on E street. She was well known in the neighborhood and earned a little money occasionally by doing odd household jobs. During the past few days she complained of feeling low-spirited, and once went to a drug store to get some kind of medicine to cheer her up. She had been addicted to the excessive use of strong drink for many years, but only took it when the spells of melancholia came on.

On Saturday night she paid a visit to her acquaintance, Mrs. Charaya, who lives in the house where the death took place. On that night Mrs. Ramon seemed as usual, and was even in better spirits than usual. She went home, but returned on the following morning with something wrapped up under her arm. After spending the morning chatting with the inmates of the home, she went out to the shed and fixed herself up an improvised bed, with the remark that she wanted to lie down for an hour or two out of the way of the family. Towards the evening Mrs. Charaya looked in and saw that the woman had been drinking, and had a big wicker bottle of wine in her hands. Shortly after this it was noticed that the woman was acting queerly and one of the household went out to hunt up a doctor. Before a doctor arrived the woman was dead, having fallen into a drunken stupor and thence passing into death.

The coroner's office was notified and Dr. Cowan at once went to the spot to investigate. The remains were removed to the morgue of Stephens & Dean, where autopsy was performed. The dead woman has two sons in Selma. She was about 50 years of age, and was a native of this state, but of Mexican parentage. The remains will be held, pending instructions from her two sons.

The autopsy was performed by Dr. John A. Gillespie and showed that the immediate cause of death was fatty formation of the heart contributed by intemperate use of alcohol. The inquest will be held this morning. The funeral arrangements will be deferred, pending word from the sons.

Coffee vs. Brains

A London physician commenting on the increase of "coffee drunkards" in Great Britain, says:
